Libraries 1987 document from the year 2013 in the subject politics miscellaneous st lawrence university school of postgraduate studies language english abstract the basic nature of any economy lies in the scarcity of its productive resources in relation to its want our wants are ever increasing and recurring while availability of resources for satisfying them lags behind an economy is constantly engaged in the solution of this eternal problem of scarcity it therefore undertakes various activities where by the available supply of resources is augmented existing supplies are utilized more effectively and some additional objectives like stability growth and distribution etc are met with as fully as possible the division of economic activities between public and private sectors of the economy should not be a haphazard one but should be based upon relevant economic and socio political objectives and within the constraints of the country s institutional framework accordingly in a capitalist economy the main task of providing goods and services is assigned to the private sector in which individual economic units are motivated by economic rationality and guided by the market mechanism in their decision making the owners of factors of production are guided by the income which they earn in alternative employments the investors are guided by the profitability of alternative investments the consumers try to maximize their consumer surplus and so on in a pure market economy virtually all goods and services are supplied by the private firms for profit and all exchanges of goods and services takes place through markets with prices determined by free interplay of supply and demand individuals would be able to purchase goods and services freely according to their tastes and economic capacity their income and wealth given market determined prices is proving to be central to the oecd s base erosion and profit shifting beps project particularly in the area of taxation of intangibles in this book this notoriously hard to define concept is examined from three distinct angles transfer pricing dempe approach harmful tax practices substantial activity requirement and tax treaties beneficial ownership in a thoroughgoing investigation using the practical example of an ip company the author provides detailed and precise answers to the following questions what substance is necessary to be entitled to intangible related returns what substance is necessary to benefit from preferential ip regimes or no or only nominal tax jurisdictions what substance is necessary to collect royalties free from withholding taxes given the need to agree on a common understanding of substance in international tax law in order to avoid costly tax disputes this important book is unmatched for the clear light it sheds on the most relevant substance requirements regarding intangibles it will prove invaluable to tax practitioners and in house counsel who are dealing with cross border transactions concerning intangibles Economic Activities and the State 2013-02-07 Package X 1986 taxpayer compliance is a voluntary activity and the degree to which the tax system works is affected by taxpayers knowledge that it is their moral and legal responsibility to pay their taxes taxpayers also recognize that they face a lottery in which not all taxpayer noncompliance will ever be detected in the united states most individuals comply with the tax law yet the tax gap has grown significantly over time for individual taxpayers the us internal revenue service attempts to ensure that the minority of taxpayers who are noncompliant pay their fair share with a variety of enforcement tools and penalties the causes and consequences of income tax noncompliance provides a comprehensive summary of the empirical evidence concerning taxpayer noncompliance and presents innovative research with new results on the role of irs audit and enforcements activities on compliance with federal and state income tax collection other issues examined include to what degree taxpayers respond to the threat of civil and criminal enforcement and the important role of the media on taxpayer compliance this book offers researchers students and tax administrators insight into the allocation of taxpayer compliance enforcement and service resources and suggests policies that will prevent further increases in the tax gap the book s aggregate data analysis methods have practical applications not only to taxpayer compliance but also to other forms of economic behavior such as welfare fraud Business Activity Tax Simplification Act of 2011 2011 Offshore Legislation of Malaysia: Offshore Companies Act (Act 441) - Labuan Trust Companies Act (Act 442) - Offshore Banking Act (Act 443) - Offshore Insurance Act 1990 (Act 444) - Labuan Offshore Business Activity Tax Act 1990 (Act 445) - Offshore Banking (Annual Licence Fees) 1990 - Labuan Trust Companies Regulations 1990 - Labuan Offshore Business Activity Tax (Forms) Regulations 1991 1995 Instructions for Form 1120S, U.S. Income Tax Return for an S Corporation 1994 as part of its most recent estimate of the tax gap for tax year 2001 the internal revenue service irs estimated that individuals underreported taxes related to their rental real estate activities by as much as 13 billion given the magnitude of underreporting even small improvements in taxpayer compliance could result in substantial revenue gao was asked to provide information on rental real estate reporting compliance this report 1 provides information on the extent and primary types of taxpayer misreporting of rental real estate activities and 2 identifies challenges irs faces in ensuring compliance and assesses options for increasing compliance for estimates of taxpayer misreporting gao analyzed a probability sample of examination cases for tax year 2001 from irs s most recent national research program nrp study of individual taxpayer compliance at least an estimated 53 percent of individual taxpayers with rental real estate misreported their rental real estate activities for tax year 2001 resulting in an estimated 12.4 billion of net misreported income this amount of misreporting is understated because irs knows it does not detect all misreporting during its nrp examinations and adjusts the amount of misreporting it detects to estimate the tax gap also the rate of misreporting of rental real estate activity was substantially higher than for some other sources of income such as wages a disparity that undermines the fairness of the tax system misreporting of rental real estate expenses was the most common type of rental real estate misreporting limited third party information reporting for rental real estate activity is among the challenges irs faces in ensuring compliance for rental real estate reporting while information reporting such as financial institutions sending information to irs about taxpayers mortgage interest payments improves compliance it is not practical to implement and enforce broad new information reporting requirements for rental real estate activities however improving existing information reporting requirements is one of various options that could improve compliance for example based on current law whether rental real estate property owners must file information returns for certain expenses they incur depends on whether the owners rental activities are considered a trade or business but the law does not define how to make this determination another approach to improving compliance is to require taxpayers to report additional detail about their rental real estate activities on tax returns for example requiring taxpayers to report complete property address information which gao found that some taxpayers did not report could help irs address misreporting requiring additional detail on tax returns could also compel paid tax return preparers used by about 80 percent of individual taxpayers who report rental real estate activity to obtain more accurate information from taxpayers enhanced irs guidance such as on required recordkeeping and additional irs outreach to paid preparers and others about rental real estate misreporting could also improve compliance
