Scoring Manual for Women and Girls 1978 this long awaited two volume set constitutes the definitive presentation of the system of classifying moral judgment built up by Lawrence Kohlberg and his associates over a period of twenty years. Researchers in child development and education around the world, many of whom have worked with interim versions of the system, indeed all those seriously interested in understanding the problem of moral judgment will find it an indispensable resource. Volume 1 reviews Kohlberg's stage theory and the by now large body of research on the significance and utility of his moral stages. Issues of reliability and validity are addressed. The volume ends with detailed instructions for using the forms. In volume 2, in a specially designed user-friendly format, includes three alternative functionally equivalent forms of the scoring system.

Revised Scoring Manual for Tests of Creative Thinking (Forms VA and NVA) 1962 ego development theory proposed by Jane Loevinger 1966 1976 is the study of how an individual's processing of experience and meaning making of the world develops. The tool used to measure ego development is the Washington University Sentence Completion Test (WUSCT) and its scoring manual is the foundation for the high validity and reliability of the measurement tool susanne cook greuter 1999b constructed a modified version of the wusct the sentence completion test integral sciti map and in order to continue the trend of strong psychometric properties a scoring manual needs to be constructed for the new sentence stems found on the sciti map this thesis constructs a scoring manual for the sciti map sentence stem a good boss the first step in creating a scoring manual was to sort the data which consisted of 836 responses to the sentence stem into categories within the different stages of ego development next any new categories that seemed to emerge during the sort process were defined and all of the existing categories were organized into a logical sequence within each stage the final step was to write the scoring manual and perform basic statistics on the frequency distribution of responses within each category the results of this thesis include the construction of a scoring manual for the sentence stem a good boss and a frequency distribution of the stem responses which provides evidence that the sentence stem a good boss has internal validity as it seems to produce a similar distribution of response data as the assessment tool as a whole provides this thesis project enhances the reliability and validity of the sciti map and adds data and conclusions to the pool of research available for the study of ego development theory
